Brand idea

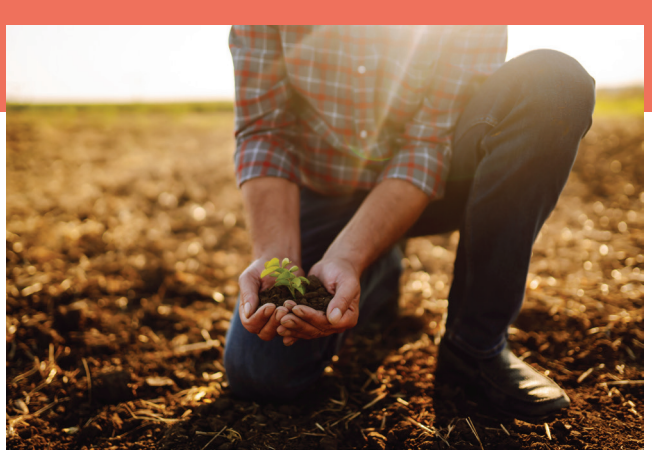

A modular identity system for a living network of transformation.

EMPOWERALL is a modular, living and collaborative identity system. It connects young farmers, land, science, policy and local knowledge through a visual language inspired by roots, networks, territories and transformation.

Many parts. One living system.

Just like the project, the brand should not be static. It should behave as a living system, capable of representing collaboration, diversity of actors, territorial knowledge, scientific research and transition pathways.

Brand architecture

From funded project to long-term platform

EMPOWERALL represents the European-funded project: its consortium, objectives, work packages and official communication during the three-year funding period. However, the visual system should also allow the project's outputs, network, methodology and community to continue beyond the funding timeline.

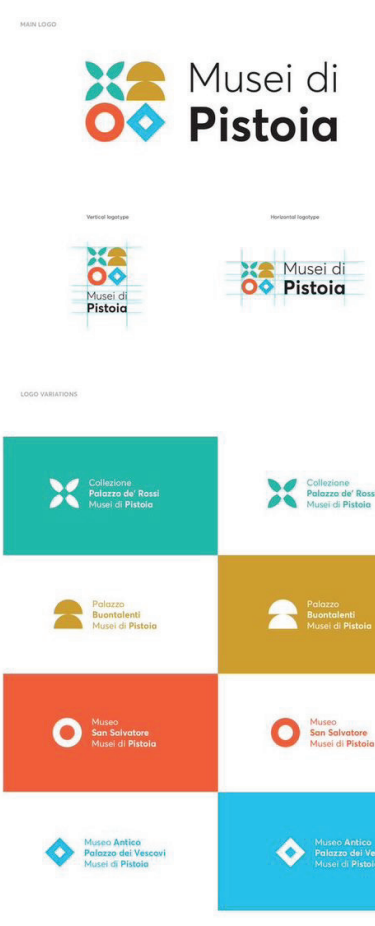

A future legacy brand can emerge from EMPOWERALL as a long-term platform for youth-led agroecological transformation, carrying forward its Living Labs, tools, knowledge and collaborative ecosystem.

EMPOWERALL is the project.
The legacy brand is what lives on.

PROJECT → PLATFORM → LEGACY

Modular symbols, flexible systems and visual identities that evolve across different contexts.

Reference direction

The references explore how a brand can behave as an expandable system: one visual language capable of adapting to different themes, audiences, formats and future applications.

A modular icon family can help translate EMPOWERALL's complex ecosystem into clear, recognisable and accessible visual elements.
